Molly Bates 1988-2008

Molly Bates, 19, a sophomore from Jacksonville, Fla. was a beloved teammate and fierce competitor. Head Coach Brian Hein described her as, "full of energy and the type of person people gravitated towards". She was a pleasure to be around and she will be sincerely missed. Molly and her energetic personality will always be remembered.

A memorial service was held and featured a slide-show presentation highlighting Bates' life. Immediately following the service, a candlelight vigil was held inside the Delta State Aquatics Center. An account was named in honor of Molly, and was established to help defray medical expenses for the injured students.

Oct. 11, 2008 will be a day no one will ever forget because, of the tragedy that had occurred. This would be that day when our fellow classmate, freshman Robert Ke'yon Johnson, was taken from this world. He was instrumental in Ray Brooks High School winning two state championships in football. He was a spectacular player and a good leader. As a sophomore lineman, Johnson was a key player on the 'Tigers' first state title team in 2005. The 'Tigers' defeated Mount Olive 52-33 on Dec. 10, 2005. Johnson was elated about winning the championship, and he was particularly happy that the win came on his 16th birthday.

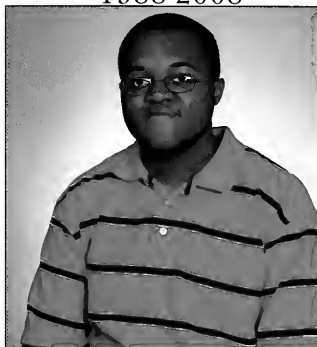

Merve Terzioglu 1987-2008

Merve Terzioglu, 21, a freshman on the DSU Swim Team, passed away April 7, from injuries received in the automobile accident on March 29. Terzioglu spent several days receiving treatment at the Elvis Presley Trauma Center in Memphis, Tenn. Terzioglu, a native of Istanbul, Turkey, was a standout performer in the pool for Delta State. "Merve was such an inspiration to us she was a star in and out of the pool," said Brian Hein, Head Coach of the Swimming and Diving Team. Merve was a unique individual; she loved to stand out in a crowd and even had a portion of her hair streaked pink. In honor of Merve many students streaked their hair pink at a local salon and all money went directly to Merve's family to help out with many medical expenses.

Adrian "AJ" Cannon 1988-2008

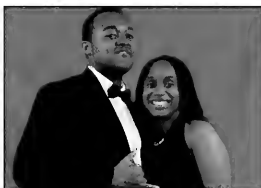

On May 24, 2008, an automobile accident took the life of one of our peers. Adrian Cannon, who was known as AJ will be missed by all those who knew him. AJ was a sophomore studying Interdisciplinary Studies. He was very involved during his time at Delta State. Marching Band, Pep Band, and Jazz Band, where he played saxophone, some of his activities that kept him busy. At the beginning of his sophomore year, he joined of Alpha Phi Alpha Incorporated. Gaining the position of the quad (4) he gained a new connection with the number. The number 4 will always be associated with him. AJ Cannon was a wonderful individual that lit up a room. AJ would be that friendly face that could always be seen around the campus, smiling and waving to those around him. AJ will live on in our hearts forever.

Robert "Ke'yon" Johnson 1989-2008

Johnson, 18, was a freshman at Delta State University but he didn't forget about Ray Brooks. Johnson helped out on the sideline as an assistant coach for the Tigers this season. Johnson, who was a 2008 graduate of Ray Brooks, was known as a good person, according to Jerry Walker, football coach at the high school. "He had a magnetic personality," said Walker. "There is not a kid here who didn't love him." "You take a kid who is academically inclined, good at sports and humble, and that's Robert," continued Walker. "If I had to sum him up in one word, it would be 'leader'."

Monterio "MO" James 1987-2008

Monterio DeShun James was born August 28, 1987, to Tammy James and Jerry Golden. Monterio was a faithful member of the youth choir and 16 Boys 16 Men. His vibrant personality and carefree spirit made it easy for him to make friends and be loved by many. As a freshman he set the single season record with eight interceptions. During his sophomore year, he set the all time record with 11 interceptions.

Head football coach Ron Roberts shared his feelings regarding his player. "Monterio was a vibrant young man, full of life and potential...his passing is such a tragedy. He was such an important part of our program and he will be deeply missed." Former teammate Joac Williams states, "As time goes by I realize that my brother is not here anymore. You will always be loved and never forgotten, my brother Mo Flo."

Graduation 2008

By: Abbey Bennett

On Saturday May 10, 2008, Delta State University celebrated their 81st Spring Commencement ceremony inside Walter Sillers Coliseum on campus. James T. Harvey, a former Delta State graduate and the Executive Vice President of Global Distribution Services and Chief Information Officer of Hilton Hotels Corporation, delivered the keynote address. In his address, Harvey prompted many Delta State graduates to make the right choices in life: that right actions matter and that success comes from the relationships you make. Harvey is also a member of the Delta State Hall of Fame. Following his graduation from Delta State, Harvey earned an MBA from the University of Memphis. Harvey was named Delta State University's Outstanding Alumnus of the Year in 2005. He also serves on the Delta State University Foundation Board of Directors.

Brandi Lyle Ward, a music major of Drew, Spencer D. Richardson, a biology major of Gulfport, and Mary Katherine Dempsey, a mathematics major of Ft. Payne, Ala., were awarded the First Diplomas during this year's Spring Commencement. The First Diploma is presented to the four-year graduating senior with the highest grade point average on a minimum of 112 hours of academic credit at Delta State.

Frances Clair Brewer, an accountancy major of Greenwood, received the Second Diploma. The Second Diploma is presented to the two-year graduating senior with the highest grade point average on a minimum of 60 hours of academic credit at Delta State University.

Dr. Phyllis Bunn, Professor of Office Administration was presented the S.E. Kossman Outstanding Faculty Award. Patti Boswell, senior secretary in the office of Field Experiences in the College of Education, was presented the H.L. Nowell Outstanding Staff Award.

During this spring's commencement Coach Dave 'Boo' Ferriss was presented with a framed honorary degree. Delta State presented one of its highest honors— an honorary Doctor of Public Service degree to Ferriss, Delta State's legendary baseball coach.

Johnny Hunsucker, Bonnie Keene and John Coleman help each other fix their gowns before entering the ceremony.

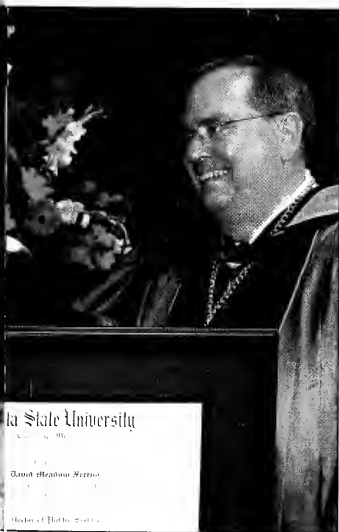

Ashley Fulgham, an art major of Cleveland, shows her excitement for graduation.

James T. Harvey, Executive Vice President of Global Distribution Services and Chief Information Officer of Hilton Hotels Corporation, delivered the keynote.

Institute of Higher Learning IHL Protest Institute of Higher Learning

By: Mary Beth Johnson and Nathan Duff

The Board of Trustees of the Institutions of Higher Learning adopted a proposal that will dramatically reduce the amount of money that Delta State receives from the state legislature. The plan calls for an incremental decrease in the percentage of state funds allocated to Delta State, Mississippi Valley State, Alcorn State, Mississippi University for Women, and University of Southern Mississippi. Ole Miss, Mississippi State and Jackson State will see their allocations increase. The incremental decreases are scheduled to take place over the course of a six-year period. By year six, the allocation to DSU will be $5,276,587. Dr. Hilpert indicated that the six-year plan gives the university a window of opportunity in which to seek new money from the legislature, increase enrollments, and implement more efficient budgets in order to offset the worst effects of the allocation decrease.

DSU and the other small schools face tuition increases and the loss of programs and faculty members if the Board's proposal holds. "It's harming two things that make small universities attractive - small classes and lower tuition," said Dr. William Hays, chair of the languages and literature department.

Analysis by the University Budget Committee (UBC) will be in five subject areas:

financial aid, auxiliary operations, athletic programs, administrative programs, and academic programs. The UBC will meet throughout the year to report in the areas and develop templates. These templates are projected to be completed by April 2009.

"DSU brings this region together like no other institution. We deal with issues unique to our area. This school has a character and a mission that is like no other in the world. It seems that the IHL has other ideas about our school," says senior Nathan Duff.

Opposition to the IHL budget cuts for DSU has been high since a Student Walk-Out held last April. Students walked out in the middle of class for a rally to express their distress. TV stations from Greenville, Jackson and Memphis covered the event. Norquist was present at the rally to give his support to the university.

If we make enough noise, maybe the folks in the Mississippi Legislature will look more closely at just how valuable Delta State is, and will take steps to ensure that the university that has given us so much will be available to our younger brothers and sisters and to our children.

Delta State's new logo was unveiled at Pig Pickin' leaving mixed feelings among students for the marketing plan and logo itself. The new logo is a part of a marketing campaign developed over three years to bring in more students to DSU. "I don't like it, but it was a good attempt to change things up," said Bradley Davis, junior interdisciplinary studies major. Designs for the new logo were submitted through a campus-wide contest during the spring 2008 semester. Dr. Michelle Roberts, Vice President for University Relations said they got a "good mix" of artwork, with 71 submissions to the contest from students, alumni, faculty, and even members of the Cleveland community. Reviewing the artwork was the Marketing Advisory Committee, comprised of representatives for students, the different colleges, and administration. Five designs were chosen for different components of the logo. From there, the Educational Marketing Group in Colorado developed the new logo and tagline for Delta State.

"The goal is to establish a strong Delta State presence beyond the State with the intention of being recognized as the best regional university in the country," said Michael Gann, Director of Communications and Marketing. "The new logo presents a modern appearance while still maintaining the classic, traditional lines of the previous symbol." Funding came from three sources on campus, including the DSU Foundation, Alumni Association, and the DSU budget. Delta State President Dr. John Hilpert reported that the Foundation and Alumni gave a combined $100,000 to the plan.

He also said $120,000 will go towards purchasing various media for the marketing campaign, such as television and radio air time and billboards. Phasing in the new logo will continue over the next year and be completed by the 2009 fall semester. New commercials were filmed during the 2007 fall semester and will air on television networks around the state.

The Student Government Association plays an integral role on the Delta State campus. The Executive Cabinet consists of six elected officials as well as 12 appointed directors. This group of students encourages the student body to participate in events and forums designed to promote student interaction and community involvement. The Student Senate as well as Student Court are active in their legislation and cases. The Student Court hears a wide variety of cases especially from traffic citations.

On March 27, 2008, a group of 34 students along with Student Government Association advisor, Linda Ross, and Vice President of Student Affairs, Dr. Wayne Blansett, traveled to the state Capitol to meet and converse with state representatives regarding issues and concerns related to Delta State University. This tradition of the Brown Bag Luncheon has been very successful for the university, since it is still one of only a few universities in Mississippi which visits legislators annually to talk about matters close to Delta State.

While there, the students watched and listened to the discussions the legislators were having while they were in session from the upstairs House gallery. They also gained the opportunity to hone their lobbying skills while meeting many eminent Mississippians. Many of the students remarked how important they felt the trip was for Delta State since the legislators heard first-hand how imperative it is to fully fund higher education as well as maintain tuition costs at all public universities in the state.

Orientation Orientation

By: Marya Paolillo

"Hello and welcome to this special college edition of Deal or No Deal at Delta State University! Today one lucky college kid will get his chance to play for the ultimate college experience right here at Delta State," says Seth Duhs, playing Howie from Deal or No Deal. The theme of this year's Orientation was DSU Deal or No Deal, a spin off of the new TV game show. Student Director McKenzie McIntire comments on the theme, "The new students seemed to really love our theme for Orientation this year. As a senior, it's exciting to see the incoming freshmen so excited about joining the Delta State family." The objective of the game is to pick the case with the college experience of a lifetime. Each case held by the "models" has a different item related to college and to Delta State. The main goal of the Orientation skit was to show Delta State's qualities in a fun way, even Orientation leader Chris Eccles played the part of a model. The day was full of events of getting to know Delta State and its campus and meeting new friends. "Being an Orientation Leader and then Student Director not only taught me a lot about myself, but also about Delta State – about its history and its aims for the future. I was bettering myself while helping others, and it seemed like two summers of nothing but fun," says Drew Barham, student director, about his experience of being an Orientation leader. The 2008 Orientation team included: Debbie Abide, director, Drew Barham, student director, McKenzie McIntire, student director, Ken Amos, Taylor DeLoach, Kelli Douglass, Seth Duhs, Tara Dunn, Chris Eccles, Casey Harlow, Sean Harrison, Laura Howarth, Matt Melton, Katie Morrison, Marya Paolillo, Dan Patrick, and Gina Whitmire.

DSU DEAL OR NO DEAL

Sports Recap

Golf

The golf team always puts their best foot forward or rather best club forward. Statesmen golfer Chase Smith was named to the Gulf South Conference's All-GSC Second Team. The golf team plays at tournaments here and there, which include the Valdosta State University Collegiate Classic, where the Statesmen totaled at 940 for a three round event to finish in fifteenth place overall. The Delta State University golf team wrapped up another tournament at the Matlock Collegiate Classic in Lakeland, Florida. Delta State finished in fourteenth place with a three day total of 924. The Statesmen were led by Brandon Hartzell, who finished with a 12-over par 228. Hartzell finished in 36th place. Lee Rhodus and Chase Smith both finished the tournament with a total of 232, while Trent Adams and Austin Smithers closed shooting 233 and 242 respectively. Delta state golfers continue to practice hard for the upcoming season.

Men's Basketball

The Statesmen Basketball Team started off their 2007-2008 season with hard work, a fresh new batch of athletes, and ready to claim victory. The Statesmen began with 11 new players this year after completing the 06-07 season with a victorious 18-10 overall record in Coach Jason Conner's first season. Senior forward Johnny Hodge, an All-GSC Second Team selection in 2006-07, returned ready to lead the backcourt for DSU.

Chad Akins, last season's co-GSC West Division Freshman of the Year, also returned to direct the Statesmen offense. The Statesmen put the best effort forward the entire season long, concluding with a triumphant 14-12 overall record, and 8-6 in the Gulf South Conference. The Statesmen are looking forward to a more rewarding year to come under Coach Jason Conner, hopeful that his third year is the charm.

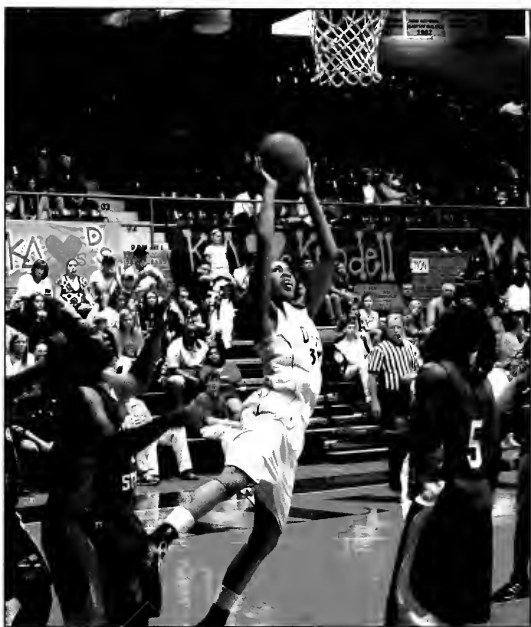

Women's Basketball

The Lady Statesmen started out their 2007-2008 season ranked 7th in the Women's Division II. After the first five games of the season the Lady Statesmen claimed the No. 2 spot for Division II with a record of 5-0. This ranking was the highest for the Lady Statesmen since Jan. 11, 2001. The top-ranked Lady Statesmen closed their regular season play in early March with an impeccable record of 26-0 and 14-0 in the GSC, becoming only the second team in DSU history to finish the regular season undefeated. Coach Rushing led the Lady Statesmen to a 3rd Gulf South Conference Championship and a third straight trip to the NCAA regional tournament. The Lady Statesmen (32-0) dominated the championship and were crowned the NCAA South Region Champions for the twelfth time, and earned their first trip to the NCAA Elite Eight since 2000. While at the Elite Eight the Lady Statesmen advanced to the Final Four with a still undefeated record of 33-0, in their first appearance since the 1995-1996 seasons. The Lady Statesmen ended their season with a storybook 33-1 record in NCAA Division II Final Four Play.

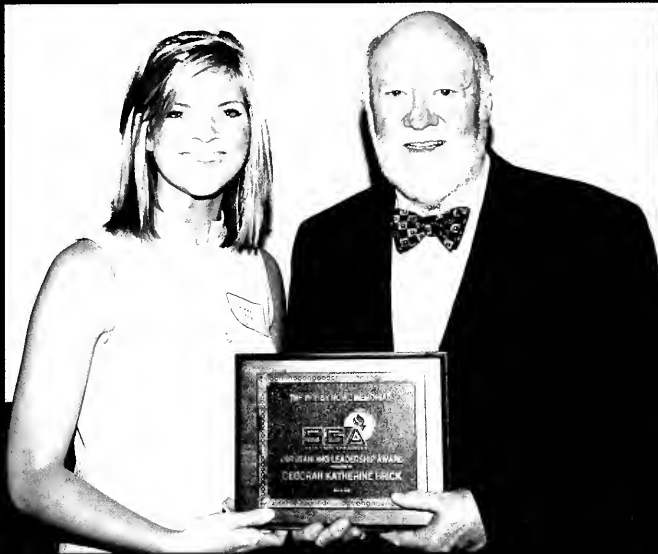

Swimming and Diving

The Lady Statesmen and Statesmen finished up a strong 2007-2008 season. The NSISC Championships concluded with the Lady Statesmen in second and the Statesmen in third. For the second year in a row, Brian Hein was named the NSISC Woman's Coach of the Year award. Lady Statesmen freshman Mery Tervioğlu earned the Most Valuable Swimmer Award. The team later traveled to Missouri to compete in the NCAA Championship. After four days of intense competition the Lady Statesmen finished tied for 22nd place and the Statesmen finished 19th. Even though the team fell short of their first national title they have high expectations for the upcoming season.

Greek Week

Greek Week

Greek week is a time for all Greek organizations on campus to come together and enjoy a number of different events. It has become quite a tradition on the Delta State campus. This year each Greek organization donated pennies to raise money for the Molly Miles fund. Tuesday was full of games on the quad that consisted of a three legged race, egg toss, tug-of-war, and a hoola hoop game. The week's events came to a close with quite popular annual multicultural step show that was held in the gym this year due to the rain.

This years Greek banquet was held earlier during the week. Delta State Alumni Tyron Jackson a member of the Alpha Phi Alpha Fraternity and currently the Interim Dean of Graduate and Continuing studies at Delta State was this years guest speaker.

This years Greek Man of the Year, for IFC, went to Johnny Hunsucker and this years Greek Woman of the Year for Panhellenic Council went to Deborah Brick. The Greek Man of the Year for Pan-Hellenic went to Travis Metcalf and Greek Woman of the Year for IFC went to Chanell Shorter.

Springfest Springfest

As school came close to being over, it meant it was time for the Annual Springfest. On April 10th, due to weather, Springfest was held inside of the Wyatt Gymnasium. However, this did not stop the students from coming out and enjoying themselves. There were various activities and fundraisers set up in the gymnasium. There were long lines waiting for airbrush tattoos, wax hand molding, and butt sketches. Among those activities there was also, bull riding, miniature golf, basketball, and many other things the students could enjoy. Later that night a free concert was held in Sillers Coliseum. That night's guest was Ingram Hill and Nappy Roots. Students packed the Coliseum to dance and sing along with all the songs that were played that night.

Welcome Week

Welcome Week was fun for all new and returning students! Due to weather, Monday events were moved to Tuesday. Students came out to the Organization Fair and left being more involved on campus. The Foam Party was once again a big hit and brought out all the students. Wednesday was jam packed with events for everyone on campus.

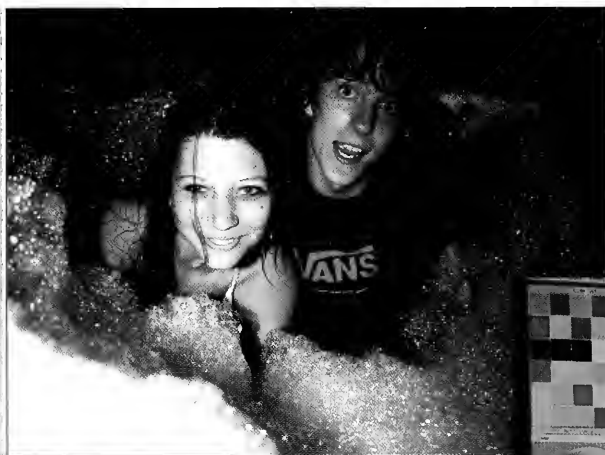

As students ate lunch and relaxed in the Union there was an area set up to have a digital caricature made of them. Also, Freshman enjoyed frozen treats at the President's House. If the night was free students could go and watch the movie Iron Man. The week went out with a splash as friends enjoyed Wet Inflatables on the Quad.

night with performances by Donna Gregory and Back 40. On Saturday, alumni, faculty, staff, students, and Cleveland locals gathered in Statesmen Park to celebrate the mighty Statesmen's first home game. The main event of the festivities was the famous Pig Pickin' Barbeque Cooking Competition, during which BBQ masters show off their prized recipes for the chance to be named best in show. Other events of the day included the DSU Triathlon, a reunion for the class of 1960-1962, live entertainment by DSU's very own "OI' Skool Revue", and a pep rally lead by the DSU cheerleaders. "Join in. Stand Out." the new tagline and logo for DSU was also presented during the daylong event. Pig Pickin' was an enjoyable day for all in attendance, and ended in a victory for the Statesmen beating UA-Monticello 37-31.

Statesmen Park was packed with tents of alumni, Greek organizations, Senators, and of course the BBQ contestants.

Homecoming Homecoming

By: Abbey Bennett

This year's homecoming activities and festivities were held October 27th-November 1st to the theme of Kickin' It Old School: Delta State Throughout the Decades with different activities throughout the week. Monday and Tuesday's activities were held on the Quad. Monday some of the sororities and fraternity participated in lip-sync contest, in which they had a time limit of five minutes to lip-sync and dance to a song or combination of songs. Tuesday's activities included games on the Quad, such as a three legged race and tug a war contest. The next two days included activities with food; Wednesday an okra eating contest took place in the Café and Thursday was a pumpkin carving contest on the Quad. All of these activities led up to the Kickin' It Old School themed pep rally on Friday where hog dogs were provided and live entertainment from members of Phi Mu Alpha Fraternity. During half-time on Saturday's game Kelli Douglass was named and crowned Homecoming Queen. The Statesmen defeated Arkansas Tech 48-14 making a great ending to this year's Homecoming week.

By: Claire Gore

Delta State University held its fall commencement on December 13, 2008, in Walter Sillers Coliseum. This commencement celebrated the 82nd Delta State University commencement. 401 graduates collected degrees ranging from Doctoral degrees to Master's and Bachelor's degrees. Delta State University awards its First graduating senior point average on a academic credit at was given to graduated with degree, with design and John with a Bachelor of The Second

Diploma to the four-year with the highest grade minimum of 112 hours of Delta State. This award John Spencer Strickland, a Bachelor of Fine Arts concentration in graphic Virgil Warren, graduated Music Education degree. Diploma is presented to the two-year graduating senior with the highest grade point average on a minimum of 62 hours of academic credit at Delta State. This award was given to Matthew Brett Hyatt, graduated with a Bachelor of Science degree in Biology. The keynote address was given by the 2008 S. E. Kossman Outstanding Faculty Award winner, Dr. Phyllis Bunn, professor of business administration. Her wise words were given in her address titled "What I Know For Sure." Dr. Bunn encouraged the graduates to love and have faith in themselves and their endeavors. Her address told the graduates to focus on respecting others, save for the future, and to be a leader. "I know for sure that for a successful journey through life, you have to have a clear picture of yourself and your destination," Bunn said. She promoted the idea of leading one's own life and not letting people, events, or situations take the lead. Dr. Bunn offered a plan for the graduates to know the destination they wanted to attain. "There will be hindrances along the way, but look past the hindrances and on to success." A great piece of advice issued by Dr. Bunn is to, "follow your heart and instincts. Have faith in your abilities, and you can reach your dreams."

Alumni of the Year

Peter Jernberg

Peter Jernberg of Sumner was named Delta State University's Alumnus of the Year for 2008. Jernberg entered DSU in 1961 to study history. Since his election as president of the Student Government Association, he has had a career built on leadership skills. His Delta State education and friends have made such an impact that Jernberg credits much of his success to his alma mater. "Any success I may have is due in great part to Delta State and the quality education and nurturing support the University has always provided and continues to offer its students," Jernberg said. Hunter Cade, a DSU roommate of Jernberg's, said of him, "He has the same values. He gives a lot of credit to his family and Delta State, as well as his childhood in the Delta. He's a solid Christian whose faith defines him." Jernberg's focus is on the students, their needs, and their accomplishments.

Jernberg's dedication and love for DSU is stronger than ever. For two years, he served as president of the DSU Foundation. He is also a past president of the DSU Alumni Association. Jernberg spoke fondly of his experience, "After a very short time at Delta State, I was so attached to the school that I wouldn't go anywhere else. It embraced me and I was grateful for the opportunities I had there: the academic growth, the values, and the chance to mature socially."

Presidential Election Presidential Election Presidential Election

By Thomas Wetzel

"Change We Can Believe In" and "Country First," were the slogans that will forever go down in history for bringing out the most voters in any election in American history to date.

Presidential nominees Senator Barack Obama and Senator John McCain, both flew to the University of Mississippi on September 26, 2008. Here, along with swarms of college students from all the Miss. institutions, the Republican and Democratic presidential candidates came to debate their ideals for a new era of American government.

Democratic nominee, Obama, spoke first to the audience regarding the financial economic crisis where he firmly stated "We have to move swiftly...more wisely. And I've put forward a series of proposals that make sure that we protect taxpayers as we engage in this important rescue effort."

Later in the debate, Republican nominee, McCain addressed the question of military in Iraq as an efficient choice. He responded with, "The next president of the United States is not going to have to address the issue as to whether we went into Iraq or not. The next President of the United States is going to have to decide how we leave, when we leave, and what we leave behind."

By the end of the debate, the senators' influence on the crowd was almost split down the middle. There was no clear cut victor of the meet, however good and bad points were pointed out in both of their speeches and campaign strategies.

On November 5, in Chicago, in front of an estimated 250,000 people, the new president-elect, Barack Obama faced Americans and said, "The road ahead will be long. Our climb will be steep. We may not get there in one year of even one term, but America—I have never been more hopeful than I am tonight that we will get there. I promise you—as a people, we'll get there!" According to CNN Obama had 365 electoral votes (53%) and McCain had 173 (46%).

The new 44th President of the United States was officially sworn in on January 20, 2009 with over one million attendees. "Change has been voted in."

Washington National Cathedral Chorale Sings in Washington D.C. Washington National Cathedral

By: Emily Peacock

With the snow still falling, Dr. Richard Waters and the Delta State Chorale set out on their trip to the nation's capital during spring break. After getting there safely, the choir attended the National Symphony Orchestra on Saturday night. On Sunday, the choir performed a 25-minute prelude before the Evensong Mass at the Washington National Cathedral. "You almost couldn't concentrate on singing there, it was just so beautiful," said Meg Bennett, a freshman chorale member. On Monday, the choir was left to take in all that the Capital had to offer. Many choir members visited the White House, the Archives building, the Washington Monument, the Lincoln Memorial, the Arlington Cemetery, the Holocaust Museum, the WWII Memorial and various other sites. Dr. Waters said of the experience, "It was breathtaking, it was something that all of us will remember for the rest of our lives."

Some of the students stop and take a picture to remember their experience.

In just little over a year Whitfield Gymnasium has been transformed from a gym to world class recording facility where those interested can pursue a career in recording arts and music industry or just to sing to their hearts content. In the late summer of 2007, progress was underway in turning a worn outdated music studio into the top notch state-of-the-art studio worthy of the Delta region's various blues, jazz, and gospel influences.

Funds secured through state and federal agencies aided in renovation along with the 2003 donation from the Viking Range Corporation. Whitfield's historical significance called for some architectural features of the building to be preserved such as some large windows and arches on the second floor, which contributed to the uniqueness of the project and importance of the labs and studios.

What physically makes a recording studio? It definitely takes more the straw, sticks, and bricks for the next up and coming Howlin' Wolf.

The challenge of this type of construction was that blueprints didn't just call for building a room. Plans called for sound-proofing, materials designed specifically for acoustic rooms, extensive specialized wiring that could handle the delicate sound technology, and other building elements attributed to the creation of a recording studio. Nashville, Los Angeles, and New York are locations people think about when they hear "recording studio" but now Delta State can be added among those ranks of top notch studios for making a career out of the music industry.

Tricia Walker shows off the new equipment and tries it out herself.

An Open House was held at the beginning of the school year to show how far the facility has come along.

International Students International Students International Students

By: Abbey Bennett

Delta State is the host to 48 international students that represent a variety of countries such as France, Brazil, Canada, Spain, India, Australia, Dominican Republic, Turkey, Germany, Korea, Portugal and Finland. Enrollment of international students has steadily grown as family and friends find out what Delta State has to offer. "International students find Delta State University, located in the Mississippi Delta, to be a friendly and a safe place to get an education", says DeAndre House, director of international students here on campus.

The Office of Admissions assists students in getting admitted to the University and obtaining an I-20. The I-20 document allows students to qualify for an F-1 student visa in order to enter the United States. The international student body on campus meets once a semester to bring the new and returning international students together. This allows the students to get to know each other and socialize with other students from different cultures.

"Many of our international students on campus play sports, we have a big population of swimmers and soccer players," says House. Tom Stantos, an international business major from Brazil and also a member of the football team, says he likes that it's a small school and the teachers treat you well. "The education here in the U.S. is different than the education in Brazil," says Stantos. Guilherme Russo, a political science major and tennis player at Delta State, says "The reason I came to Delta State is because I wanted a high quality education and I feel like I am getting that here." He also mentioned he has good relationships with his teachers. Both Stantos and Russo feel that teachers and international students benefit from each other because they can share experiences as well as share their cultures. Jen Maier, a student from France shared that she originally wanted to go to Tampa but Delta State granted her a scholarship to play soccer. "My dad is an American and attended college in America. He told me that soccer was good in the U.S. and encouraged me to attend school here."

Invisible Children Invisible Children Invisible Children

By Amanda Smith

In the spring of 2003, three young filmmakers traveled to Africa in search of a story. What started out as a filmmaking adventure transformed into much more when these boys from Southern California discovered a tragedy that disgusted and inspired them, a tragedy where children are both the weapons and the victims.

After returning to the States, they created the documentary "Invisible Children: Rough Cut," a film that exposes the tragic realities of northern Uganda's night commuters and child soldiers.

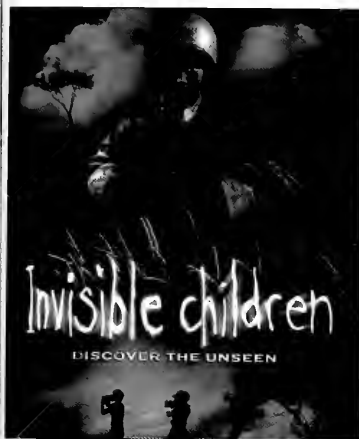

The film was originally shown to friends and family, but has now been seen by millions of people. The overwhelming response has been, "How can I help?" To answer this question, the non-profit Invisible Children, Inc. was created, giving compassionate individuals an effective way to respond to the situation.

Since "Invisible Children: Rough Cut" was filmed in 2003, night commuting has ended for the children of northern Uganda. For the past two years, the region has been closer to peace than ever before. From June 2006 to March 2008 in Juba, Sudan, the Lord's Resistance Army (LRA) and the Government of Uganda (GoU) engaged in a series of peace talks in order to end the conflict. These peace talks, supported by special envoys from the United States and other nations, allowed for the longest period of peace in northern Uganda's 23-year war.

The LRA launched a surprise attack on a village across the border from northern Uganda and kidnapped two classrooms full of fifth- and sixth-graders. Within six days, tens of thousands of people have fled their homes, fearing the rebels.

Imagine the headlines if an event like this would get if it happened here. Ninety kids stolen, hauled off into the forest to be used as soldiers. And yet, somehow, the lives of these children go unnoticed and unmentioned by the rest of the world.

The DSU community has the opportunity to take notice and take a stand. On Wednesday, Oct. 8, at 6:30 p.m. in the Union State Room, "Invisible Children" came on campus screening the newest documentary, "Go!," and informing people on how to get involved in changing the lives of the children in northern Uganda.

Delta State University Theatre Noises Off Delta State University Theatre

By: Jason Moorhead with additional informations from Wikipedia

Tuesday to Thursday, Nov. 11-13, the Delta State University Theatre presented "Noises Off," an outrageous comedy that had a little something for everyone. Both the advertisements and the performance's program tagged it as, "A dirty, sexy comedy about a group of people performing a dirty, sexy comedy!"

In his plot for Noises Off, writer Micheal Frayn plays on the concept of a play within a play, in this case a parodically dreadful sexy comedy titled "Nothing On." "Nothing On" is set in "a delightful 16th-century posset mill" that has been converted to a modern dwelling for which renters are solicited. Each of the three acts of "Noises Off" contains a performance of the first act of "Nothing On."

Act One is set at the dress rehearsal, the night before opening with the cast still fumbling with entrances and exits, missed cues, misspoken lines, and bothersome props, most notably several plates of sardines.

Act Two portrays a Wednesday matinee performance one month later. In this act, the play is seen from backstage, providing a view that reveals the deteriorating personal relationships among the cast.

In Act Three, we see a performance near the end of the ten-week run, when personal friction has continued to increase and everyone is bored and anxious to be done with the play. The actors attempt to cover up a series of mishaps but only compound the problems and draw attention to the bungling performance.

Much of the comedy emerges from the subtle variations in each version as off-stage chaos affects on-stage performance, with a great deal of slapstick. The contrast between players' on-stage and off-stage personalities is also a source of comic dissonance.

Dotty Otley, the line-forgetting off-set love interest of Garry Lejeune, was played by Morgan Ricks. Jonathan Smith played Lloyd Dallas, the angry, seemingly washed-up director. Andy Howell played the hilarious, jealousy-ridden Garry Lejeune. Amber Roy played Brooke Ashton, while Cassie Coats portrayed Poppy Norton-Taylor, both off-set sex interests of the director.

Jeremiah Matthews played Frederick Fellowes, an oblivious and easily injured character. Claire Dean played the annoyingly funny Belinda Blair, possibly the only character really trying to keep "Nothing On" on track. Tim Allgood, the overworked and multi-talented assistant stagehand, was played by Cameron Griffin, and Troy Hodges played the drunken, overwhelmingly hilarious Selsdon Mowbray.

Delta State began the 2008 football season ranked No. 10 in the D2Football.com Preseason Poll. The defending Gulf South Conference Champions finished the 2007 season with a 10-2 record, 8-0 in GSC play, and advanced to the second round of the NCAA Division II playoffs. The Statesmen were the only team to beat National Champion and preseason No. 1 Valdosta State, coming from behind to claim a 35-31 victory.

The wins against the University of West Alabama, 21-14, and North Alabama, 28-27, improved the seventh ranked Statesmen to 6-1 on the year and 5-0 in the GSC. The win placed the defending GSC champions in full control of the GSC race and NCAA Super Regional Two. The victory also extended DSU's GSC win-streak to 20 straight games and the Green-and-White cracked the top-five in both the American Football Coaches' Association and the D2Football.com Top-25 polls for the first time since the end of the 2006 season.

For the first time in the history of the Delta State football program, the Statesmen successfully defended their Gulf South Conference Championship, defeating the Wonderboys of Arkansas Tech 48-14 in front of 7,123 fans at the 2008 "Pig-Pickin'" Homecoming game at Parker Field-McCool Stadium. Also adding to the victory, head coach Ron Roberts earned his second straight Coach of the Year award after guiding the Statesmen to back-to-back GSC titles. Ron Roberts has only been the head coach at Delta State for two years, but regardless of where his career goes next, he will forever be known as one of the greatest to lead the Green-and-White. Along with his award the GSC champions, placed 10 players on the All-Gulf South Conference Team. For a third-consecutive year the Statesmen had the GSC Defensive Player of the Year, as junior linebacker Lardester Hicks-Green received the honor.

The Statesmen, GSC champions for a second consecutive season, received a first round bye after being selected as Super Regional Two's top seed. The fourth-ranked Statesmen fought off the eighteenth-ranked Pioneers of Tusculum College, 27-19, to advance to the quarterfinals of the NCAA Division II Football Championship. The Statesmen improved to 10-1 on the season and 8-0 in the GSC.

The following week No. 4 Statesmen hosted the No. 5 Lions (11-1, 7-1 GSC) of the University of North Alabama, for the NCAA DII Quarterfinals at Parker Field-McCool Stadium. The game marked the sixth time the two teams had met over the last three seasons, including two NCAA Regional championships. Despite the tight match-up, the Statesmen season was ended in a loss against UNA, 55-34. The Green-and-White finished a successful season with a 10-2 record and numerous other achievements, new records, and individual awards.

Under the leadership of Head Coach Brien Hein, the Delta State University Swimming and Diving teams are unbreakable in their pursuit for a national title. The 2008-2009 season the swimming and diving team has returned to the water with one goal in mind, a national title. The Statesmen and Lady Statesmen, 32 athletes in all, have continuously set new team and individual records in the fall '08 season. In Memory of

Tommy Sledge

Chair & Professor of Commercial Aviation

A native of Cleveland, Sledge joined the Delta State staff as an aviation instructor in 1990 following a distinguished career in the U.S. Air Force and the Mississippi Air National Guard. He became chair of the department in 1997. Sledge held a Master's Degree in Commercial Aviation from the University of Louisiana in Monroe, and a Doctorate of Education from Delta State University.

Define Your Delta State:

A Brief History of Delta State University

Mississippi Governor Whitfield signed Delta State Teachers College into law in 1924. Serving as the cultural and educational center of the region, Delta State University is located in the Mississippi Delta, a 20-county, northwestern region, rich in various ethnic and cultural groups.

James Broom became the first president when the school opened on September 15, 1925, with 97 students and 10 faculty and staff. Today, Delta State has a little more than 4,000 students. President Broom started the new Delta college off successfully, but became ill at the end of his first year. A bright and eager William Kethley became the second president of Delta State and to this day he holds the distinction as youngest college president at the age of 32.

The first graduating class was in 1928 with 13 students. In 1955, Delta State's name was changed from Delta State Teachers College to Delta State College. After Kethley serviced thirty years as president, James Ewing came to Delta State as the third president. Ewing bolstered the size of the University in every way, from enrollment, to buildings, to educational divisions. Aubrey Lucas became the fourth president and placed programs that made Delta State stronger in both academics and athletics. In 1974, Delta State's name was changed from Delta State College to Delta State University. Kent Wyatt became the fifth president and first and only alumnus of the school to be chosen as its leader. Wyatt serviced the University for 24 years. David Potter became the sixth president and was very active and showed his support for all areas of the school.

Current President John Hilpert became Delta State's seventh president in 2003. Today, Delta State offers 12 baccalaureate degrees in 42 majors, 8 master's degrees, Educational specialist degrees, and Doctor of Education and over a 100 organizations to get involved in. From once a small teachers college in the Mississippi Delta, DSU has expanded to 300 acres of space, 78 buildings, and a University known for its one of a kind educational experience and close knit community.

This year's theme for The Broom is "Define Delta State." Delta State is a hard place to define. People will try to describe the opportunities and memories we will make here, but one cannot begin to believe anything until life at DSU has been experienced. Delta State is where education and opportunities for growth come together. The yearbook is a reflection of all we have accomplished together at Delta State. It serves almost like a history book or as a walk down memory lane. I hope this book brings you many happy smiles and helps each of you define your experience at Delta State.

I would like to take the opportunity to thank a couple of people. First and foremost my advisor Bill Moses, thank you for being there and saying the things I needed to hear at the right times. Many thanks go out to Elizabeth Pellum for being my right hand man and to Ashley Edmond for being my assistant editor. A warm thank you goes out to Julie Jackson for all our emails back and forth, and Doug Pinkerton for his photography. Also thanks goes out to Angela Liang and the newspaper staff for sharing pictures and articles. Last but not least, thank you to my whole staff for putting the time and effort into this yearbook.
